PROJECTS

MNIST CNN Digit Classifier

Built a Convolutional Neural Network (Keras/TensorFlow) to recognize handwritten digits from the 70,000-image MNIST dataset, using stacked Conv2D and MaxPooling layers with Dropout regularization, an Adam optimizer, and categorical cross-entropy loss, achieving high accuracy on both training and test sets.

MNIST Webcam Digit Recognition

Extended the digit-classifier model into a real-time recognition tool that captures handwritten digits from a live webcam feed using OpenCV and classifies them with a TensorFlow-trained CNN.

The Cube Game

Developed a web-based interactive Rubik's Cube game in HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, letting users rotate faces, scramble, and manipulate a 3D cube in the browser to practice 3D logic, animation, and interactive controls.
